Reading is not a lost art to the same degree that conversation is, but It has in most cases an arrested develspment through so much reading that makes no demand upon aesthetic sensibility, so that one is apt to bring to a fine story full of delicate shades of thought and feeling the same mind which he yields to a newspaper, putting a blunt interrogation as to its meaning as conveyed in the terms of a rational proposition, and the writer's charm is wholly lost upon him. While the reader's surrender to the author must be complete, his attitude should not be passive, but that of active responsiveness and partnership.-H. M. Alden in Harper's Magazine.

SHAKE-UP IN NAVY.

Sweeping Changes December 1 Fight ing Men Get Chance.

Washington, Nov. 30 .- Heeding the ry for reform in naval affairs, Secre-ary Meyer on Wednesday will inaugu the most sweeping changes in the savy department since the ent of the bureau system in 1842. Him self an ex-director of banks and manufacturing companies, he hopes to put the department on a business basis be youd the dream of his predecessors The keynote of his reforms is the sub-ordination of the bureau chief. Sum marized, essential changes to be ex-pected by the Meyer plan are:

The selection of four responsible ad isers on subjects within the four groups into which duties of the depart ment fall, to be known as the aide for material, the side for personnel, the side for operations of the fleet and the aide for inspections.

The grouping of the bureaus into two divisions of material and personnel, acording to the nature of their duties The establishment of a division of erations of the flect. The establishment of a comprehensive ispection system.

The establishment of a modern, ef cient, cost keeping system in the navy epartment and at navy yards.

The separation of navy yard work The abolition of the bureaus of construction and equipment, Henceforth officers who fight the ips are to have more influence navy department. Chosen men from among them are to be the official eyes and ears of the secretary, laden with full responsibility for their reports, but will not be his hands. ## TAFT O. K.S BALLINGER.

Secretary of Interior Piles Strong an Comprehensive Report.

Washington, Nov. 30,-If congress carries out all the recommendations nade by Secretary of the Interior Ballinger in his annual report to the President, practical and fair minded advovates of conservation of natural resources will have nothing to ask beyond a strict enforcement of the law. The secretary's report, made public today, has been read and approved by President Taft, and therefore may be regarded as voicing his own views and opinions upon the various subjects dealt with, and to that extent is an indication of the recommendations which the President himself will -ubmit to cougress when it convenes next Monday.

Secretary Ballinger's report is in no degree sensational. It is a plain, force ful recital of conditions as they exist In it the many weaknesses of the public land laws are pointed out, and practical remedies are suggested. The report gives evidence of great study of the various problems discussed, and indicates the minuteness with which the new secretary of the interior has gone into the details of the work of his department.

From first to last the report is free from comment on bureaus not under the jurisdiction of the secretary of the in erior. There is no reference to friction with the forest service, but at places reading between the lines, can be indications of the secretary's desire hat congress shall absolutely the powers of the secretary of the in terior, so that in future there will be so excuse whatever for officials of an other department undertaking to die tate questions of policy and adminis tration to his branch of the government

Because of the prominence given to the question of water powers through newspapers and magazines of late, Secretary Ballinger's views on that sub-ject perhaps outshadow all other featires of his report. In discussing power sites the secretary presents a complete plan of legislation, which is offered as a suggestion for the guidance of con-gress, and not with the idea that his ommendations will be followed ex Ruther, the plan is presented as a basis for discussion, and incidental ly it may be said it is the first definite plan of power-site legislation yet pre-sented by any government official.
